PARIS RIDGE ELEMENTARY

Paris Ridge Families,

It's been a great week here at Paris Ridge! Certainly a snowy Friday to end the week on! This week our staff began new intervention groups, using classroom data along with mid-winter assessments to target specific student skills. While students do not have school on Monday, our team will be taking part in professional learning through the University of Florida Literacy Institute to further our own planning around the science of reading and making sure strategies are having the greatest impact on student learning.

This month we are focusing on the character trait, perseverance. Every day we discuss what it means to give your best and knowing that it sometimes takes many attempts to improve or master anything in life. We are most successful when we give a full effort, ask for help when needed, and fail forward. I've seen so many leadership examples throughout our building that show the resilience of our students. From supporting other students with various needs, to setting specific academic goals, to reminding one another of our social contracts, our students have been demonstrating that they do not give up easily and have a deep commitment to persevering to be the best they can personally and academically. We all should be so proud of them. I certainly am!

Stay warm and safe with the weather hitting today. I look forward to seeing everyone back on Tuesday!

Lance Jones
Principal
